Indian Queens Primary School

SEND Information Report and Local Offer 2025-2026

Welcome to Indian Queens School – ‘Behold the day. It’s yours to make’

At Indian Queens School we are proud of our inclusive ethos, where everyone matters and everyone, whether a child, parent or carer, or member of staff, is highly valued and respected.

All children are closely monitored, supported and challenged to reach their potential in all areas of their development throughout the school. Inevitably, though, children's needs differ. As a result, some children require additional support in one or more areas of their development. So where necessary, and with the full engagement of the parents / carers and staff who work with the child, additional support, interventions and/or programmes of work are implemented to ensure that every child is fully challenged and feels happy, secure and pleased with his or her progress and achievements.

The school works closely with a wide range of specialist agencies who are able to help in the assessment of, and provision for, a child, when needed. Whatever their needs, all children are always encouraged to take part in all aspects of school life, in so far as this is in their interests and capabilities.

Name of the Special Educational Needs/Disabilities Coordinator: Miss Tullett, who works on a Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday

The levels of support and provision offered by our school

1. Listening to and responding to children and young people

Whole school approaches The universal offer to all children and YP.	Additional, targeted support and provision	Specialist, individualised support and provision

Indian Queens School staff consult children and their families to ensure that the pupil voice is heard and responded to throughout the school. Children are encouraged to share their views through pupil, group and class conferences, questionnaires, 'I wish my teacher knew...' and the school parliament.	Children with SEND are included in all aspects of conferencing opportunities and consultation. They are supported where necessary to develop their voice. Each child is encouraged to consider who their trusted adults are (those staff with whom they feel they have a very trusting relationship and prefer to speak with).	- Children's views are taken into account when planning and reviewing individual support. - Wherever possible, the children's views contribute to their IPM targets, SEND reviews and TAC meetings.

2. Partnership with parents and carers

Whole school approaches The universal offer to all children and YP	Additional, targeted support and provision	Specialist, individualised support and provision

- The school works in partnership with parents to ensure the best possible educational experience for their children. - Clear systems exist for parents to talk to, or get messages to, or discuss concerns about their child's learning with relevant members	- Parents may be invited to specifically targeted support and training. - Interventions which are identified to meet children's needs are discussed with parents. - The Head of School, SENDCo and class teachers are happy to update parents and	Parents are consulted before and during SEND assessments and programmes of support. They are invited to participate in a range of reviews and meetings and their input is an integral part of TAC meetings and SEND reviews.

of staff, by appointment. • Parents are also represented by the Parent Forum which meets regularly with the Head of School. • When circumstances allow, parents are invited into school to share children's learning and discuss children's progress at termly home-school review meetings. If face to face meetings are not possible, staff use 'Teams meetings' or telephone calls to contact parents. • The school website and Facebook page enable parents/carers to understand more about what their children are learning.	listen to parent concerns. • Parents are invited to regular SEND cafes and drop in sessions to network with other parents, discuss concerns with staff and seek advice from other professionals.	• Termly IPM meetings take place to discuss progress and set future targets. • Parents/Carers may communicate with their child's class teacher and/or TA through the use of a home-school book where appropriate.

3. The curriculum

Whole school approaches. The universal offer to all children and YP 	Additional, targeted support and provision 	Specialist, individualised support and provision
• All students, regardless of their ability or needs, have full access to the curriculum. • Enquiry-led learning and a focus on creativity, enquiry and investigation appeal to and stimulate the children's interest. • Pupil progress is monitored termly including the use of Little Wandle Phonics to assess reading. • Parents receive information about the curriculum which is displayed on the school website. These include guidance to aid parents to support their children's learning at home.	• Diverse teaching strategies and carefully targeted support and interventions make the curriculum accessible and meaningful for children experiencing any difficulties. • The curriculum might be differentiated for individuals or small groups through task, equipment, scaffolding or level of support.	• Some children require a higher level of support and might need an adapted, personalised curriculum and scaffolding (personalised adaptations and/or resources) to enable them to access the learning alongside their peers. • Individual Provision Maps (known as IPMs) and Education Health Care Plans detail specific curriculum provision made to meet children's individual needs and are regularly reviewed and updated.

4. Teaching and learning

Whole school approaches The universal offer to all children and YP 	Additional, targeted support and provision 	Specialist, individualised support and provision
• A range of teaching styles and differentiated teaching and strategies are used to ensure the involvement and progress of all pupils. • Children are supported to work in small groups, in pairs and individually, and preferred learning styles are identified and used. • Children have a clear knowledge of expectations regarding their learning and they know what they have to do to make progress. • Effective questioning is used to gauge the attainment and progress of children, who in turn respond to teachers' feedback and marking by editing and improving their work. • The 'Learning by Questioning' program is also widely used to develop and assess children's skills on an individual basis in Key Stage 2. • Visual timetables, learning walls and a wide range of resources enhance the children's access to their learning. • Pupil progress is monitored and recorded in a range of ways, including formal and informal teacher assessments, classroom observations and book scrutiny.	• Specific support and provision are targeted for children with SEND. • Teachers and teaching assistants work with small groups or individuals to ensure understanding, foster independence and keep children focused. • Small group interventions target English and maths, speech and language, coordination and motor control, self-esteem and social skills. • Children access IDL interventions to aid their success in English and mathematics. • Independent student learning is supported through the use of technology, for example talking tins and dedicated computer programs. • Special examination arrangements are put in place for tests for some children, for example the use of scribes and extra time.	• Precision teaching develops targeted skills and programmes of intensive support are provided for those who would be unable to follow the main curriculum with their peers. • One to one support is put in place when necessary for those with significant learning difficulties, for example in communication, vision and hearing and those who have autism, social and emotional difficulties, global learning delay and sensory needs. • The school and families are supported by the Aspire Inclusion Team and outside agencies such as the Speech and Language Service, Educational Psychology, Community Paediatrics and Physiotherapy and the Autism Support Team.

5. Self-help skills and independence

Whole school approaches The universal offer to all children and YP 	Additional, targeted support and provision 	Specialist, individualised support and provision
• Independence is encouraged from an early age. • All children are supported and encouraged to be responsible and thoughtful learners. • Strategies for independent work are taught and reinforced and children learn to be resilient. • Resources are stored, organised and labelled to ensure easy independent access by all children. • Independence is praised and rewarded with 'gems' and 'high sky' certificates within the school's behaviour and reward scheme. Headteacher's Awards are also given in recognition of independence and other achievements.	• Some children have personalised equipment and resources which help them to cope without adult intervention, for example talking tins, overlays, specialist pencils and sand timers.	• Teaching assistants working one to one with children with significant or complex needs are trained to withdraw where possible to encourage the children to do as much as possible for themselves. • Children are supported in specialist aspects such as medical needs, toileting and life skills. • Personalised timetables, 'now and next' boards, social stories and visual cues also facilitate children's independence.

6. Health, wellbeing and emotional support

• The school ethos has a strong focus on the health, safety and happiness of all children. • The Boxhall profile is used to review the emotional wellbeing of all children and identify children with issues and needs which require further support. • Indian Queens has a qualified Headstart 'Trauma Informed School' practitioner and a 'Trauma Informed School' trained Senior Mental Health Lead. • The school has been assigned an Education Mental Health Practitioner who visits weekly and is able to work with individuals, groups or whole classes. • PSHE lessons and class conferences are totally inclusive. • All children can have personalised opportunities to voice their opinions and share their concerns, for example through pupil conferencing, peer mentoring or worry boxes. • All children are encouraged to name 'trusted adults' from the school staff to support them if they have a problem. • Specialists from outside agencies can be accessed by the school to support children with issues such as anxiety and bereavement. • All staff are trained in Safeguarding and Child Protection procedures and receive refresher training annually. The Designated and Deputy Safeguarding Leads oversee	• Some groups of children receive extra support with issues such as self-esteem, social skills and anger management. Programmes may be run by members of staff, or specialist input sought if necessary. Children's wellbeing is discussed at termly review meetings and intervention groups are set up to meet identified needs. • Emotional wellbeing needs and issues are able to be identified within whole class profiling and addressed using a range of supportive strategies.	• A nurturing approach is used with individuals who are experiencing significant emotional difficulties and need help to overcome psychological hurdles and cope with feelings and experiences which they find challenging. Individual needs can also be identified and targeted using the Boxall Profile. • Pastoral support is provided on a 1:1 basis for children experiencing significant emotional difficulties. • Staff are trained to recognise the need for, and to obtain, support from other agencies such as Educational Psychologists, Family Support Workers and CAMHS (Child and Adolescent Mental Health Service) when the need arises. Our Education Mental Health Practitioner who visits the school weekly can deliver targeted programmes of support for specific children and their families. • Individual Care Plans and Intimate Care Plans are created and put into place to manage children's specific medical needs.

and ensure the wellbeing of all children.

7. Social Interaction opportunities

Whole school approaches The universal offer to all children and YP	Additional, targeted support and provision	Specialist, individualised support and provision

• All children have equal opportunities for social interaction and are taught to communicate effectively with each other, with adults within the school and with visitors. • All have access to trips, after school clubs and social extra-curricular activities.	• Social skills groups target specific children who require support. • Children can be supported one to one, in pairs or within small groups to develop and enhance their communication skills.	• Some children have individualised support to enable them to attend an after school club. • Social stories and modelling help some children to develop social understanding. • Picture communication systems such as 'Widgets' are used to help some children to communicate. • Some members of staff have been trained to communicate with children using Makaton and core books.

8. The physical environment (accessibility, safety and positive learning environment)

Whole school approaches The universal offer to all children and YP	Additional, targeted support and provision	Specialist, individualised support and provision

• All areas of the school are accessible to all pupils and dedicated staff oversee safety in all areas on a daily basis.	• A number of staff have undertaken PRICE training, de-escalation and positive handling training in order to ensure staff	• Every attempt is made to enable children with a disability to have full access to learning and other opportunities:

• The school has a secure site and robust systems of site access /security. • All staff undertake regular First Aid training. • Staff in the Early Years are trained in Paediatric First Aid. • All children know that bullying is wrong and are confident that issues will be dealt with by staff. 'Class rules', agreed by the children, reinforce this and are displayed prominently both indoors and outdoors. • An annual 'Anti-bullying week' brings key issues into focus and gives an opportunity for children to explore them in a safe context. • Online safety information is discussed at the beginning of Computing lessons. • The school environment is bright, attractive and learning-focused. Corridors and public spaces reflect the creativity and artistic talents of children of all academic abilities.	and pupil safety. • Adapted equipment is made available in response to children's needs. • A whole school accessibility audit is carried out annually.	reasonable adjustments are made in terms of adult support, physical spaces and resources and personalised arrangements related to individual needs. • Wheelchair access is in place throughout the school site. • Personalised Emergency Evacuation plans are drawn up for all children for whom they are appropriate. • Specialist equipment such as seating or a sloping desk is sourced or made available according to need. • Key members of staff have been trained in moving and handling children.

10. The SEND qualifications of, and SEND training attended by, our staff

To enable all children to have access to the curriculum, information and guidance, physical environment, school and wider community 	To enable targeted support and provision 	To enable specialist, individualised support and provision
• All teaching and non-teaching staff take part in a wide range of training relevant to the needs of the pupils, for example: - Safeguarding and Child Protection - First Aid - Emotional wellbeing and mental health - Phonological awareness and memory - Team Teach - Speech and Language support	• Where small groups require specific provision, training will either be led by a member of the SEND team, or a staff member who has already received this training. If necessary, training will be accessed via an outside agency.	• Some very specialised training is arranged for staff according to need, for example when supporting a child with complex medical needs. Parents would always be consulted and informed in such cases.

• The SENDCo attends local meetings to receive important updates. • SEND training needs of all members of staff are identified through discussion with members of the Senior Leadership Team at Pupil Progress Review mtgs, SEND review meetings and when a child with individual needs joins the school. A plan to meet their needs is then put into place.

12. Pupil progress

Every child's progress is monitored and evaluated on an ongoing, daily basis, and discussed with the school's Senior Leadership team. Progress is shared with pupils through marking and feedback. Parents are invited to discuss their child's progress at least once per term and more frequently if their child has individual needs. For any child with specific learning difficulties, regular conversations take place for both parents and teacher / SENDCo to share in the child's progress and plan their next steps. The school also uses the Aspire SEN Charter Mark as a way of gauging the quality of provision. This is a set of standards which have been written, using the Code of Practice 2014, to ensure expectations are in place. Indian Queens School has been awarded the Bronze Charter Mark and is working towards the silver standard.

13. How we know how good our SEN provision is

Ofsted, May 2014: 'Disabled pupils and those with special educational needs are extremely well supported by teachers and teaching assistants, in and out of classes. They are fully included in all aspects of school activity.'

As well as the Charter Mark mentioned above, positive parent feedback, progress tracking, test results and successful transition by SEND pupils from class to class and on to Secondary Education also help us to evaluate our provision.

14. If you wish to complain

All concerns should be brought to the school as soon as they arise in order to resolve any issues as soon as possible – this is always in the interests of the child. Parents are asked to speak first with the child's class teacher, and then the SENDCo and/or another member of the Senior Leadership Team if the matter has not been resolved. Following this, a formal complaint would be required. The procedure for managing complaints about SEND provision is the same as for other complaints and can be sourced by requesting a copy of the school's complaints procedures.

Cornwall's SEND Local Offer can be found on The Care and Support in Cornwall website: SEND Local Offer

Answers to Frequently asked Questions

1. How does the school know if a pupil needs extra help, and what does a parent / carer do if they are concerned that this may be the case?

School staff closely monitor the learning and wellbeing of all pupils throughout each day. Each class teacher works closely with colleagues and support staff sharing information they gather on each child. Additional information is gathered through assessment, performance data and liaison with families and outside agencies. The SEND team work very closely with all class-based staff, advising and supporting them on how to respond effectively in order to meet the needs of each child. Where parents / carers have any concerns about their child's development, behaviour, learning or attitude to school they should always speak with their child's teacher in the first instance. He / she will always seek advice and other staff may be brought in to help if this is necessary. Parents / carers should always pursue their concerns if they do not feel that effective action has been taken.

2. Who is responsible for the progress and success of the children in school?

The class teacher is responsible for the progress and this is overseen by senior leaders and the SENDCo where necessary. The school recognises that teachers and parents need to work together in order to ensure the best outcomes for children.

3. How is the curriculum matched to my child's needs?

We strive to provide a stimulating and balanced curriculum which is accessible to all, adapted where necessary to ensure that all children can achieve and enjoy their learning. Three waves of support match the children's needs: Wave 1 'Universal' support effectively includes all children in high quality lessons with high quality teaching, Wave 2 'Additional' support and resources are tailored for small groups of children and Wave 3 'Specialist' support and resources are targeted to meet the needs of individual children with very specific individual needs.

4. How do the school staff support my child?

Your child's class teacher will have high expectations of your child and all other pupils in their class. He or she will build upon what your child already knows, can do and can understand. Your child's progress will be carefully monitored, and if the staff believe that your child would benefit from extra support in any area, they will plan and implement this in consultation with you.

5. How is each child's progress shared with parents and carers, including guidance on how their learning can be supported at home?

You will regularly be invited to discuss your child's progress and receive written reports. If you have any worries or concerns you will always be welcome to make an appointment to discuss them with your child's teacher (in the first instance) or, following this, the SEND team if necessary. Appropriate homework will be sent home for all children to share with their parents, as well as daily reading practice. Curriculum information regarding the learning for each year group will be displayed on the school website each half term.

6. How does the school work to ensure that children are safe and well cared for?

The school's positive and caring ethos is reflected in the class rules which are displayed in classrooms and upheld by staff and children. The 'Trusted Adult' scheme gives every child the choice of a member staff with whom they would wish to discuss problems or issues should any arise. All staff undergo safeguarding and first aid training. The security of the school site and safeguarding are taken extremely seriously at Indian Queens, with all visitors accessing the school via the office, signing in and being asked to wear identification. Through our PSHCE* curriculum all children are taught the importance of personal safety in many contexts, social skills and healthy living. *Personal, Social, health and Citizenship Education.

7. How accessible is the school environment?

The entire school site at Indian Queens is fully accessible via ramps, a lift and hand rails in the main corridor.

8. How does the school prepare each child for their transition each year to their next class / school?

Transition for all children each year is carefully managed and a programme of visits, meetings with new staff and parents, where necessary, is organised to ensure children are well prepared and look forward to their next class / school with confidence and enthusiasm. Year 6 children spend time in their next school and get to know at least some of their next teachers. Children with SEND will have extra support and may have their own transition plan, created with the child and their parents / carers, which is designed to help them cope well with the transition.

Please contact the school on 01726 860540, or call in at the school office. The staff there will be pleased to advise you and put you in touch with the best person in school to help you.
