Introducing our Head of School from September

I am very excited to be joining the Indian Queens team as Head of School in September. I am currently an Interim Head of School in St Austell where I have worked since relocating to Cornwall in 2020.

My family are Cornish, born and bred, and my parents returned home to Cornwall in their retirement. My family and I followed them in 2020 in time for my eldest to start at secondary school and for my middle child to start primary. We have loved our time in the county so far and enjoy getting out for long coastal walks and exploring the beautiful countryside.

Prior to relocating I was based in South London in an enormous primary school with over 1300 children split across two sites. My roles during my time there included EYFS Lead, SENDCo, Assistant Head and ultimately Deputy Executive Head and Acting Executive Head.

I look forward to meeting you and your children and to supporting Indian Queens Primary to continue to be a happy and effective school.

Have a wonderful Summer!
